LAST ADDRESS OF FAIRBANKS

Mr. Fairbanks, on rising to speak, was greeted by long appliance. He said he was very grateful to be introduced by Hawaii's former Governor. ns he was a man he greatly esteemed. He said that the banquet was a fit-He referred to some words of Mr. Carter when the latter referred to Mr. Fairbanks' helpmeet, and said that Carter showed a great deal familiarity with his household, but if he knew it as he did, Mr. Carter would be aware that he. Mr. Fair-banks, was not the after-dinner orator at all. This sally was greeted with laughter.

Much of Mr. Fairbanks' speech was pleasantry tempered by regret that he was about to leave Islands in which he said he had been shown so much hospitality. He spoke at some length on the good results which the Men's League would achieve, and of the work of churches in general and their relation to progress and civilization. "We are proud of Hawail," he added. "because of the influences that are controlling its destiny. This club is organized to teach civic duty, clean politics and to promote them. There politics and to promote them. There is no better work for the Christian church than to promote the welfare of the community, the welfare of the The political unit will rise just as high as the moral aspirations of the citizenship of that community, and not one jot higher. If you want it clean, you must make it clean.

"Our country was founded to pro-mote liberty; our republican institu-tions were laid in blood and nurtured in sacrifice, that the zone of human liberty might be enlarged. Go into the history of the world and you will Go Into find the word 'failure' written over dynasties. Civilizations have been born and erased from the pages of history in the long ago. Our experiment of republican government is the best Shall our history be a repetition of the history of similar fallures of the past? The answer rests with you, it rests with our entire countrymen. It largely rests with the Church, for while Church and State are separate in the United States, and, in God's providence, I hope they will ever be, for all that, the Church is the foundation stone of the State.

'It has seemed to me in the years past that if one criticism could be laid at the door of the churches of the Christian world, it is that they are concerned with too much doctrinal matter, and not enough with the matters affecting the happiness of the great hody of the people. I understand that this club was organized in response to the demand that the Church shall be a practical agent in the welfare of the community.

"There was a time when we looked out from the mainland to these beautiful Islands and wondered into what hands the Hawaiian Islands would fi nally pass. Would some foreign power, hostile to the United States, sess them, or would some friendly, but foreign, power claim their allegiance? That question has been settled by logical events. Hawaii and the United States are bound together for ever and ever, and no power on God's earth can separate the bond of their union.

"You alluded, Mr. Carter, to the dif-ferent nationalities and the catholicity of spirit which obtains here. It was a beautiful sentiment. It was a Christian sentiment of the highest character. In the United States we have not a dissimilar question. There we are working out a problem, the like of which is not found anywhere in the world. In France, England, Russia, Italy, Scandinavia—they are working out their problems. In the United States all those best bloods world, English, Scotch, Dutch, Scandinavian, French, Italian, Russian, Portuguese-all are ating in the United States, and in that uty ent from all, but it will be the best them all. (Applause.)

"I shall not have an opportunity to address the people of Honolulu again. I shall, however, not withhold accept ance of an invitation to return again to the hospitable shores of Hawaii. I have witnessed natural wonders full of inspiration

To Hawalians everywhere, fare-

LUCIEN YOUNG'S MAY DAY AT MARE ISLAND

Chronicle.-One of the biggest social Chronicle.—One of the biggest social events of the season in naval circles will be the old-time May Day party to officers and their families and friends, at which Captain and Mrs. Lucien Young will be most gracious hosts at their Mare Island home. Those who will be guests have been anticipating this extension of the well-known hospitality of the Captain and his wife with some trepidation of late, owing to the serious trepidation of late, owing to the serious illness of Captain Young with pneu-monia. Though somewhat pulled down by the sickness, Captain Young is now out again and entering into the prepar-ations for the party with customary

The natural and artificial condition at Mare Island all combine to make the possibilities of a grand old May Day garden party difficult to equal. This, with the Youngs for host, and hostess, is ample assurance of the success of the affair from every point of

One feature of the day is to be a May pole, and Captain Young declares that he will have to show people out here how a May pole should be made, and how it should be treated on the first day of the blossom month.

A divorce action has been justituted He by Henry C. Vida against Lens K. Vida, the allegation in the complaint being habitual intemperance. The couple were married in 1904, and Vida ting crown for the few weeks of de- states that it was a happy household lightful pleasure he had derived here, until 1906, when he declares that his until 1906, when he declares that his wife became addicted to the use of liquors and, as a consequence, neglected her home and children. The complaint states that Vida was compelled to leave his wife in 1908 and that although he has given her an opportunity to mend her ways she has declined to take advantage of it.

Vida states that he has done every thing possible to reform his wife and that he has not met with success. "Libelant has at all times conducted himself as a faithful and affectionate hasband," recites the legal document, "and has supported his family to the best of his ability and in accordance with his means, and has not in any way contributed to the drinking habits of libelee or encouraged or approved of the conduct of libelee as aforesaid. There are three children of the unio Lani, five years of age; Matilda, three and a half years, and Lorita, aged two years.

Vida is known by reason of activity in politics. He was a member of th House of Representatives and a deput sheriff of the county of Oahu. ed to get the Democratic nomination for supervisor and then ran on the Home Rule ticket and was defeated.

Lahainaluna Case.

The Labainaluna case, of consider able celebrity, again appears on the findings of fact that have been submitted by the Supreme Court of the Territory, to be forwarded to the United States Supreme Court on the appeal of the plaintiffs, F. J. Lowrey, George P. Castle and William O. Smith, trustees of the American Board of Mis sions. The case has already been be fore the United States Supreme Court the Territory having lost on a tech nicality. The case was then remanded to the Territorial Supreme Court and the second hearing resulted in a verdic for the Territory, which held against the claim of $15,000 compensation for the property of the Lahainaluna Semi pary.

Place for Marcallino.

It is generally understood that John Marcallino, who rendered efficient ser vice as clerk in Judge Lindsay's court will remain at his post when Whitney goes on the bench. Marcal-lino has made something of a record for himself in the solving of some rather intricate problems tions with estates of which he was ap-pointed master. Judge Whitney has recognized the value of Marcallino's services and it is believed that he will be retained.

The news from Washington that ep position has developed to the confirmation of Woodruff as second Federal judge is not exactly welcome to these who have cases to argue before the Supreme Court. It is feared that the Woodruff affair will delay action on the confirmation of the new associate justice, Antonio Perry. The retiring justice, Sidney M. Ballou, is now en route to the Coast, and the Suprem Court business is practically halted pending the confirmation of his suc cessor.

Notification of the confirmation 151 Judge Whitney is also anxiously awaited. The Circuit Court calendar needs three court judges working to prevent the cases from accumulating. and the police department would like to have Judge Whitney's judicial interpretation of several provisions the juvenile delinquency act, which they are inclined to regard as being & Irish, trifle obscure.

Attorney General Hemenway has will be when Whitney goes laboratory of God Almighty there is the bench. There is a salary of $250 working out a new civilization differper month attached to the place—the same as a circuit judge-and there are several local attorneys who would not object to joining forces with the Attorney General.

MONEY MISSING FROM KAAHUMANU TREASURY

An embarrassing financial difficulty has arisen in the administration of affairs of the Kaahumanu Society, and is holding the attention of officers and members. It has resulted in the financial duties being shifted from the hands of a former official to the present one, because something like $400 or $500 can not be properly accounted for.

The Kaahumanu Society is one of the oldest of the societies, composed almost entirely of women of Hawaiian birth. The society was organized many years ago, and to it belong most of the women of high rank or those who are descended from those of high rank according to Hawalian custom. It has numbered in its membership Hawatian women who have held high places about the royal court in the days of the monarchy. Lately the society was reorganized and new life in jected into its affairs and the membership was greatly enlarged. Many wealthy Hawaiinn became members and gave liberally to its fund, as it is a benefit association from which the members, while sick receive allowances, and those who die are buried by the society, unless other-wise provided for. It is said that the money unaccounted for is a portion the fund which was, by the rules of the society, due certain wealthy women members who died, for the funeral expenses, which expenses were borne out of their own estates, A member of the society stated yes-terday: "If this had only been $50 or $60 it would not have attracted attention, but it is a large sum not to be accounted for. It is too bad that such a thing should have occurred in the society. I don't know how the mat-ter is to be adjusted."

"Harry T. Mills versus John Catheart, Defendant; James Bicknell, as Auditor of the City and County of Honolulu; Garnishee.

This is the full title of a suit that was filed in the District Court yesterday as an aftermath to Catheart's fallure to pay the Hawalian Star for printing and announcements in co tion with his political campaign, Cath cart's original indebtedness amounted to $46. Of this he paid $20 on account, and it is for the balance of $26 that the machinery of the law has been invoked in an effort to make the County Attorney meet his indebtedness.

George F. Henshall, manager of the Star, awears to the correctness of the claim against Cathcart in an affidavit which concludes in the following language:

That affiant makes and has made this affidavit as the agent of Harry T. Mills, the party mentioned hereinabove, as the plaintiff and for and on behalf of said Harry T. Mills.

"That said account has been rendered to said named defendant from time to time and immediately thereafter the date of the last item mentioned and set out in said bill of account and particulars and that John W. Catheart . did not within six months afterward dispute said account, but, to the contrary, admitted that said account was correct, true and just,"

Abandening hopes of collecting from Catheart in the usual form, the Hawallan Star sold its claim to Mills, and the District Court suit follows. In the bill of particulars the indebtedness of Catheart is enumerated as: "To announcement, $5; 2000 Hawalian circu-lars, $12; 5000 English circulars, $20; 1000 cards, $3; 1000 Hawalian circu-iars, $3; 1000 cards, $3. Total, $46. Credit, $20."

As "Exhibit A" is a letter from Mills to Cathcart, reading as follows:

"I request payment of the account heretofore due and owing, by you, to the Hawaiian Star Newspaper Association, Ltd., the amount of which—$46—you, on April 10, 1909, after application made to you by me, made payment of $20 thereupon.

"The balance due, $26, must be paid at this office on or before 5 p. m. of

Catheart didn't pay up "on or be-fore 5 p. m. of tomorrow," and the and the Past Due Agency is trying to accom-plish by means of the courts what the Hawaiian Star Newspaper Association, Ltd., falled to accomplish after six months of consistent effort.

Refuses to Pay.

The full text of the interesting declaration against Catheart is as follows:

"Harry T. Mills, plaintiff in the action above entitled, complains of John W. Cathcart, defendant herein, and

That heretofore, to wit, within six years last past, at Honolulu, and within the jurisdiction of this court, John W. Catheart, said defendant, was indebted to Hawalian Star Newspaper Association. 143 Association, Ltd., a Hawaiian corporation, in the sum of forty-six dollars, for services, work, labor and material supplied to and had by said defendant, all at the special instance and request of said defendant, and for his use and benefit, a bill of particulars whereof being hereto attached and made a part hereof, and, being so indebted, he, said defendant, in consideration thereof, afterwards undertook and faithfully promised the said Hawaiian Star Newspaper Association, Ltd., to pay it the said sum of $46, when he, defendant, should be theretoafterwards requested;

"That demand for the payment of made upon defendant, but to pay the same, or any portion thereof, saving and excepting the sum of twenty dollars, paid on account thereof, defendant has failed and neglected and still falls and neglects, and that, subsequent to the payment, by defendant, of the sum of $20, paid on account of the whole indebtedness of $46-as herein set forth-demand was made on defendant for the payment of the amount then and theretofore due, to wit, the sum of $26, the said demand being in writing, a copy whereof be-ing hereto attached, made a part hereof, and marked 'Exhibit A':

"That, by reason of the premises, there was and remained due to Hawailan Star Newspaper Association, Ltd., by this defendant, the sum of $25, and which said sum, despite the demand for the payment thereof, was, on the 8th day of May, 1909, unpaid by this defendant;

"That, on the 8th day of May, 1909, the said Hawalian Star Newspaper Association, Ltd., for a valuable sideration, sold, assigned, transferred and set over to Harry T. Mills, plaintiff herein, all of the right, title, interest, claim and demand then and theretofore being in and possessed by the said Hawaiian Star Newspaper Association, Ltd., to said debt, claim, account and demand, as against said John W. Cathcart (defendant herein), and as herein described, and that Harry T. Mills, said plaintiff, is the owner and holder thereof:

"That, because of the premises, plaintiff says that this defendant is indebted to him in the sum of $26, and for which sum of $26, together with interest, attorney commission and all costs herein expended, plaintiff prays judgment;

"Plaintiff further alleges that James Bicknell, as Auditor of the City and County of Honolnin, and in his official capacity as such Auditor, is the exent, factor, trustee, attorney and debtor of said defendant, and has the goods or effects, to wit, money, pay orders, credits, accounts and vouchers of, belonging to and owing to said defendant concealed in his hands so that they can not be attached or levied actual debt was considerably less than daring the largest A.H. vessels that
